

NEW ORLEANS BAPTIST THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY COLLECTION

AR. 646

I. Historical note.

The New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary was established in 1917 as the Baptist Bible Institute. In 1946 the name was changed to New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary. The seminary is owned by the Southern Baptist Convention who elects its trustees. The seminary is a coeducational institution to train Christian pastors, missionaries, musicians, religious educators and others in Christian ministry. For additional information on the history of the seminary consult the Encyclopedia of Southern Baptists.

II. Scope and Content.

This is an artificial collection of various material on New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary. The collection consists primarily of seminary bulletins/catalogs and directories from 1918 to present.
